Hands-Free Cellular Phone Interface System

2003–04 Accord and Pilot; and 2004 Civic, Civic Hybrid, CR-V, and Odyssey

Revised: 10/29/03

The Hands-Free Cellular Phone Interface System allows users to plug a cell phone into the vehicle's audio system, enabling them to have a "hands-free" conversation. The Interface System automatically mutes the vehicle's audio system* and allows the driver to carry on a conversation via the audio system's front right speaker and a remote microphone. The system also disconnects the call at the end of the conversation.

The Hands-Free Cellular Phone Interface System consists of the following:

- Hands-Free Phone Base Kit: Main Unit, Wiring Harnesses, Microphone, and Ear Piece
- Hands-Free Phone Attachment
- Hands-Free Phone Cable (See page 2 for more details.)

* NOTE: When the phone is in use, the Interface System will respond as follows:

2003 PILOT
LX, EX, EX-L	Mutes radio, active display
EX-L Navi	Turns off radio, inactive display
EX-L RES	Leaves on radio, no muting

2003 ACCORD
All	Mutes radio, active display
